Looking at the News with Col. Hugh Clark

THE longest word in the Hungarian language has thirty-three letters in it and it means a man whose opinion cannot be bought. We understand it is seldom used in the Hungarian Diet and then only when a member is speaking about himself.

Fraternal societies will soon be holding their annual gatherings, and we should like to hear each one of them debate this question: "Resolved that in the opinion of this association titles of honor and distinction are foreign to the genius of our democracy."

Representatives of every Indian tribe are expected at the Chicago Exposition. Only the fair deserves the braves.

Ain't Science Grand?

Something new in physics has been found, or at least given a name, for it must have been there all the time. The name is positron and it is defined as a free positive electron. If that is not sufficient then we must explain that when high energy photons collide with the nuclei of an atom they eject the positron. Surely that is simple enough.

It is all very well for the London Daily Express to demand that Britain keep out of the Franco-German embroglio. She will if she can, but she is a signatory to certain treaties and is a member of the League of Nations.

France did herself an ill turn when she antagonized Lloyd George. His is now the only voice of consequence raised on behalf of Germany, and France might profitably have retained his friendship, for he still exercises influence and authority in the British Isles, although his following in the House of Commons is inconsiderable.

In the United States they are enacting blue sky laws for the protection of investors. In Ontario new regulations prohibit agents from going to private houses to sell other than government bonds. If they wish to sell shares and stocks they must go to shops and offices.

All that is to the good, but if we were asked to designate Public Enemy No. 1 we would name those big financial houses that sought out flourishing businesses, bought them, set them up on a new financial structure, sold the stock to the public and pocketed huge profits.

If you name one of those set-ups that succeeded, we can name a dozen that failed. If you can name one that is still struggling along and paying dividends on the new capitalization we can name a dozen still struggling along and not paying dividends.

When money becomes active again these buccaneers will seek out such businesses as survive, acquire them, recapitalize them and go through the same process to the end, because they are still out of jail and getting ready for further killing unless checks are provided by law.

For a time, everything France did alienated sympathy for her, but along came Hitler and Von Papen and in a few weeks convinced the world that France was right in insisting upon security against a country still infected with the rabies of militarism.

Clearly Von Papen has learned nothing and forgotten nothing, or he would not have urged German women to raise sons for future wars, and

Boy Scout Concert Proves Excellent Entertainment

Features "A Girl to Order" Scout Displays and Sketches

Vulcan is proud of its troop of Boy Scouts and proved this by patronage to the concert sponsored by the organization in the Vulcan Theatre on Thursday evening of last week. The building was filled to overflowing and the hearty applause by the audience showed the appreciation extended the troop for the first attempt in the entertainment field.

J. T. Willard, an official of the Vulcan troop and a member of the district organization, introduced the numbers on the program and acted in the capacity of chairman.

"A Girl to Order" was the first number of the entertainment, a one-act comedy that showed expert direction and excellent ability of the cast. The play was of the female impersonation type and had many gags that provoked much laughter from the spectators. Direction of the play was given by Guy Denbigh whose ability in the art of stage direction and make up is well known. The cast included Miss Evelyn Peterson, Orton Dodds, Grant Clark, Donald Ulrich, Wm. Morley and Jack Picken.

The play was followed by a male quartet, Rev. V. E. Smith, Scoutmaster Conn, H. Harback and C. Otte- well, who rendered selections on two or more occasions during the program.

Two sketches, "Ha, Ha," and "Spanish Lady" and the stunt "Pat Lady" enacted by the scouts, were mirthful and showed originality in production and were well staged. The display "Mariners Compass" was put on by the Wolf Cub pack, whose costumes represented different countries and each boy a point of the compass. It was pretty and well presented.

Items intermingled with these sketches were displays of sleight of hand and tap dancing by a former Boy Scout, Omar Creer of Lomond, who proved versatile with both numbers and made encore returns to the platform. A reading by Donald Ulrich was another item well received during an intermission.

The program concluded with a grand finale of Scout display entitled "The Last Night in Camp" in which both Scouts and Cubs had part. Items of the display included prayer, the grand howl, the singing of "Abide With Me," "The Maple Leaf" and "God Save the King." The audience joined the boys in the singing of these numbers.

Prologue, interlude and finale music selections were rendered by the Vulcan Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of Corporal Forslund. All numbers were delightful to the listeners.

Much credit to the success of the concert was the direction and hard work in preparing the boys by Scoutmaster Conn. To him a great deal of applause is due.

June 22 Date Set For Wm. Aberhart Visit

Committee of Citizens Successful in Booking Douglas System Authority

Posters, work of the Advocate Job Printery, will be on display this week end and advertisement in this issue, announces the visit to Vulcan of Wm. Aberhart, B.A., of Calgary, authority on the Douglas System of Economics on Thursday, June 22nd. Mr. Aberhart, who will be accompanied by Ernest Manning and Richard Seaborn on his Vulcan visit, will lecture on the subject of the Douglas System and the enthusiasm manifest at the present time would indicate an audience of several hundred people in the municipal rink, where the lecture will be held.

The speaker will be brought to Vulcan under the auspices of a committee of citizens who have interested themselves in the subject and have taken the financial responsibility of providing such a wide known lecturer for the Vulcan and district public.

Mr. Aberhart will be introduced to the audience by Mayor King. Other personages on the platform will include Ernest Manning, colleague of Mr. Aberhart, and Richard Seaborn, violinist, who will make his second bow to a Vulcan audience at this time

LOCAL ITEMS

Advertising is to a business what a good meal is to a growing boy—it builds him up and makes him grow.

J. B. Corbett of Calgary, superintendent of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, accompanied by his son, Campbell, were Vulcan visitors this week.

Hear Wm. Aberhart, B.A., lecture on the Douglas System of Economics in Vulcan on Thursday, June 22nd. See the posters or advertisement in this issue for further particulars. 1-c

Delegates from Vulcan lodge No. 121, B.P.O.E., to the annual Alberta convention of the Elks' lodges to the province held in Lethbridge this week were A. J. Kennedy and J. D. Dobbs.

The second-hand store owned and operated by Martin Peterson moved last week from the old post office building to the Sallstrom block next to the H. J. Maber offices. All stock have been re-arranged and the business is now open at the new stand.

E. G. McPherson, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Alberta—L.O. O.F. and W. D. Allan, District Deputy, accompanied by members of Samaritan lodge, No. 91, were official visitors to the Milo lodge on Tuesday evening.

The Alston community hall association are planning a picnic to be held on the grounds of the hall on Wednesday, June 28th. Advertisement in the next issue of the Advocate will carry full particulars. Keep the date in mind.

Vulcan students did not compete in the track meet held in Champion on the King's birthday, June 3rd. The schools competing were Yale, Thigh Hill, Champion and Carmanagay. Vulcan was to have been in the competition but did not see its way clear to enter and withdrew about ten days before the event took place.

A pick-up baseball team including a number of regulars on the league team, journeyed to Lomond on Sunday and were turned back by a score of 21-8. Heretofore the Vulcan ball club has always played Sunday baseball at other diamonds other than their own, but with the rescinding of the by-law prohibiting Sunday baseball by the town council on Monday evening many Sunday games will now be seen at the local diamond. The locals are arranging for a game this Sunday but the team engaged is not definite at the time of writing.

Large posters printed by the Advocate have by this time found distribution in Vulcan and dozen of other nearby points advertising the summer bargain event being staged by the F. M. Anderson Co., Ltd., dry goods store. The prices offered are attractive and large crowds will, no doubt, take opportunity of buying their summer needs. The sale opens on this Saturday, June 10th and continues for twelve full shopping days. Mr. Anderson is conducting the sale personally, thus saving the heavy expense of engaging a man for the purpose. The saving thus made is passed on to the customers. A large staff of clerks will assure the public of service.

There were four dances held in Vulcan during the time from Friday, May 26th to Saturday June 3. Two of these were regular Saturday night dances held in the Memorial hall with music provided by the High School orchestra. These Saturday night dances, held for past three months, have become popular and are well patronized. The dance held on May 26 in the Oddfellows' hall was sponsored by the Vulcan Elks' to provide funds for maintaining of the Little Bow swimming hole, a community enterprise assumed by the lodge. The patronage was good and the customers were satisfied. Len Davis and His Royal Arcadians supplied the rhythm for this dance, as also they did for the dance under auspices of the Vulcan baseball club at the Memorial hall on Wednesday, May 31, after the Stavely-Vulcan ball game. Although crowd was small on this occasion everyone had a most enjoyable time.

FORMER DISTRICT RESIDENT PASSES

George Washington Coville

Friends in the district learned with regret of the death of George W. Coville, a former resident who passed away at his home in Red Deer on Tuesday, May 30. Funeral services were held at Red Deer and the remains were shipped to Vulcan for interment on Wednesday, May 31. Rev. J. N. Brunton officiated in connection with the burial ceremony at the Vulcan cemetery.

Mr. Coville was born in Burland, Wis., in 1859, and came to Canada about twenty-five years ago, settled in the Vulcan district where he farmed extensively on a large tract of land until 1928, when at that time he moved to Red Deer. He operated a small dairy business at that point.

In addition to Mrs. Coville, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Colby J. Thompson at Havre, Montana, and Mrs. Stephen Bickford at Fargo, N.D. his only son George, died in 1917 and is buried in the Vulcan cemetery. Both daughters were able to reach Red Deer before their father's death.

Mrs. Coville and the daughters will have the sympathy of their Vulcan friends.

The winner was a Mrs. Taylor whose address has not at the present time been located. The unique feature of the bed cover, given away was the embroidery work of the name of every ticket purchaser on the same. Winners at cards were: men's high, Robert Bowie; ladies' high, Mrs. Wm. Brown.

Mention was not made in our last issue of the tractor school held here in the Oddfellows hall on May 25. Messrs. J. K. McKenzie, of the Caterpillar Co., Peoria, Ill., and W. L. Peglar, representative of the Union Tractor and Harvester Co., staged the school which included the showing of several reels of talking motion pictures, illustrating the various uses of the Caterpillar tractor with special reference to combine and header barge harvesting of grain. The school was held during both the afternoon and evening of the day and although the audience was slim on both occasions, due to the busy season, the pictures and lectures proved entertaining and instructive to them.

Defeat Stavely 12 to 2 in Opener and High River 4 to 3 in Second Game

The Vulcan baseball club opened the season on the home diamond with a win on Wednesday evening of last week when they played hosts to the Stavely team. The score was 12 to 2, one sided due to the late arrival of the visitors battery, Haynes and Rae.

A good crowd of fans turned out to witness the game, one that is not in the class expected all season from the Wheatbelt league, this however, being due to the weakness of the visitors who were short handed until the fifth inning. As the summary of the game given below shows the tallying of eleven runs, before the arrival of the visitors complete squad, was made by the locals.

Strike-outs: Carruthers, Vulcan 7; Frieze and Haynes, Stavely 10. D. McQueen, umpire.

Friday Evening's Game

Friday's game was nip and tuck till the final inning when Vulcan defeated the High River nine in a Wheatbelt fixture on the local diamond, the score being 4 to 3. A good crowd of fans thrilled at the play that was marred by costly errors on both sides. Allred made his first appearance with the locals this season in the capacity of hurler; Clifford Anderson also a pitcher, made his initial appearance, playing left field in this game.

Bearded Students Seen on the Streets

Citizens Alarmed (?) at Heavy Growth of Hair; Need Not Fear

Citizens of Vulcan need not fear, nor be alarmed if they should meet four bearded strangers on the streets of our fair town. They are perfectly harmless and will cause no trouble if not molested. These fellows are none other than a group of local high school students of the male sex that have signed an agreement that reads like this: "Whereas it is expedient that provision should be made for regulating the superfluous growth between the nose and upper lip, the moustache, and be it hereby enacted and ordained that the undersigned parties shall abstain from shaving the said moustaches, which heretofore were not extant. And whereas it is agreed that on the 1st of June 1933 the undersigned shall cease to shave the moustache for the ensuing thirty days. Failure to comply with the agreement shall require the offender to donate the sum of $1.00 to the Wood's Christian Home."

The agreement, which is signed by students whose names we will withhold, was stolen secretly. No doubt the Wood's Home will receive a donation of $4.00 within the next few weeks.

THE AGE OF MAN

Most people of middle age, often experience the curious feeling that they have lived not one life but many lives. Their years have been sharply divided into several epochs which have all been markedly different, calling for new mental readjustments. They have seen the miracles of a few years ago become the common place of today. Their viewpoints in many respects have been altered again and yet again.

While this experience is no doubt common to human kind in every period of history, the last forty years have been notable for scientific inventions, and material advance, as well as for world rocking crises. The first dramatic episode in common middle-aged recollection is the march of soldiers to the Boer war. It was rather a remote affair, the chief feature of which were the lengthy arguments of pro-British vs. pro-Boer. In the decade of the nineties, there were some years of modestly hard times, which did not however, drive anyone to despair or suicide. For young and old life was quiet, industrious, orderly. The high moments consisted of elections, which were mainly the dissipation of the adult males; the Sunday school picnic, the Ringling circus, the county fair, and the occasional bicycle party, well chaperoned.

The young people who came West in the early years of this century, were swept from this quiet groove of life, into a quick moving frontier world where everything boomed. Every town was the fastest growing town in the West, and the theme song of the prairies was rendered with hammer, saw and reaper. The newcomer, if in funds, bought lots in this town and that, because every town promised a boom. And no town did boom beyond a certain point, and old subdivisions have once more returned to farm lands.

There was the hysterical oil boom of 1914, and hot upon that, the Great War. For four years, the outlook of mankind was hot with hate and vengeance and the youth of the country went forth to kill and be killed. It was an unhealthy, nerve racking and ageing period.

Slowly the country readjusted itself to post war conditions. People forgot to hate, and settled down to normal progressive living. The luxuries of automobiles, good roads and electricity with its attendant facilities, became necessities. Aviation ceased to rouse wonder, nothing in fact roused wonder, except the crash which ushered in the past four years of depression. A similar depression might not have been so far reaching forty years ago, but the general public is now tuned to a higher pitch, and has succumbed to a more material outlook. For most people life has been sharply divided. Bad times and good times have alternated suddenly and dramatically. The years have taken heavy toll emotionally, physically and mentally. It can not be said to have been a placid or particularly happy period of history in which to have lived. But it has been sensational, thrilling and of infinite variety.

THE BEST ANYWHERE

The season is approaching when numbers of our citizens will be drifting away to distant parts for rest and recreation. They will return with wonderful tales of what they have experienced. And in mentioning certain scenes or products they will exclaim: "We never see anything like it in this country."

This brings up the question of whether or not, we have anything in this district, that will rouse from visitors a similar exclamation. Have we anything that is the very best of its kind to be found anywhere.

Of course one immediately thinks of wheat but that does not strike the passing wayfarer in any sensational way. He may be impressed with the endless miles of growing grain, but there are endless miles of grain in other parts of the world.

One product on which visitors do comment favorably is our beef. Few of our guests sit down to one of our everyday meals of beefsteak or roast beef without remarking: "We never get such delicious meat, down East." So that is one of our assets in the line of food. In fact all our farm products possess a freshness and quality that is not to be surpassed.

Possibly however, we depend most securely upon our scenery, to impress visitors. We can easily imagine them describing a tour in this foothill area, and exclaiming: "You never saw anything like it." We, who have lived here for many long years, never fail to be moved by the cloudless skies of early summer, the changing lights on the clear-cut mountains, the sweep of hills, the tree-bordered streams and the rich farm country lying round about.

The combination of farm, foothill and mountain affords a charm and variety rarely to be found in such accessibility. Travel is a valuable experience, and it is good for our rural eyes to gaze occasionally upon the miracles of modern cities and the wonderful vegetation of milder climates. But as we return home, we find something peaceful, natural and even impressive, in the sight of our own quiet countryside. Perhaps we may even exclaim: "We have not seen anything like it in our travels."

MAN WITH THE HOE

Gardening has a perennial fascination for many people. They are expressing themselves most happily when they plant seeds and watch them grow. The process of digging and planting, even in a small way, seems to fulfil some deep seated need in the average man.

The man who loves a garden has at least a hobby that is entirely innocent and desirable and, usually, profitable. Some very mercenary individuals may declare that they can buy vegetables cheaper than they can grow them. That may or may not be the case but they cannot buy in any store the sheer pleasure of watching "God's blessings spring out of the earth," as Herbert, the poet, used to say. That pleasure is the outcome of the labor and care of the one who plants the seed. It is his peculiar prerogative and especial reward.

The busiest man should reserve a space of his time for some personal acquaintance with the soil. The satisfaction in seeing green life spring forth from one's personal labor, carries with it a sense of accomplishment and creation, quite out of proportion to the market value of the growth.

And the man who makes beauty lift its head from the bare ground bestows a gift on all who pass that way. Improving the appearance of a town is, after all, the work of the individual citizen. It is his work and his recreation, and the result lives from year to year.

There has been wonderful transformation in little prairie towns within the past few years. They have become home-like and charming with the labor of tree lovers and garden lovers. Beauty has grown from man's industry and care.

CANADA'S CRIME RECORD

Canadians take their law courts and their capable policing as a matter of course, not bestowing any particular appreciation on the processes of law as obtaining in this country.

But an article in a recent Liberty holds up Canada to the American nation as a remarkable example. The writer had visited various cities of Canada, in an effort to discover why crime, which has grown to fantastic heights in United States, has been held in firm abeyance in this country. The countries are divided only by an imaginary line, the people are much alike in language morals and fundamental law. Yet lives and property are safe in Canada, unsafe in United States. Why?

He visited a Toronto Court trial, and was amazed to find the jury empanelled in half an hour (a process which takes days in the States). All were young men "not a head that had quit thinking or had frozen into prejudice." A man can serve on a jury only once in four or five years, and no one attempts evasion.

"As I listened to the Crown prosecutor, it struck me that perhaps for the first time in my life I had seen fair prosecution, no emotion, no dramatics. The Crown prosecutor is life appointed and can afford to be square. Also he has a right of appeal. The Canadian legal authorities know that any inequitable severe sentence is a great breeder of criminal resentment and crime, inside prison and out. Certainly, not severity of punishment is what they strive for in Canada, and less than one fourth of all crime is committed by habitual offenders. Most ex-prisoners go straight.

"Now for His Worship, the Judge. Very independent, that judge. He too, is life appointed. He spoke right out in meeting, refused to allow heckling, knew his law. Criminal law is the same all over Canada and is contained in one volume about two inches thick. In United States we have forty-eight sets of criminal law, and federal law besides.

"It is a tribute to Canadian judges that more defendants choose speedy trials than jury trials. Canadian judges are free of politics. They don't have to think of votes. They don't have to please sections of the public. Their salaries are not large, but are absolutely secure, and they can afford to be honest men. Every Canadian disapproves of the American system of electing judges, as responsible for trouble.

"Police magistrates who touch so many lives, are also life appointed. They are not in line to be 'squared,' by offenders.

"And now the policeman. When you ask a Canadian policeman a question, he answers you naturally. He doesn't eye you as if you were a crook. The difference between Canadian and American police rests, I think, on two points. First, the Canadian system rests upon patrol, upon having plenty of men on the streets, not in soft chairs in office. There is an average of one cop to 635 in Canadian cities and they are all over the place. Second, their abilities are not rated by the number of arrests made. Says J. H. McBrien of the R.C.M.P.: "It may be best proof of good police work if a man never makes any arrests. He may be keeping his district in order by good patrol." There must be in Canada, sworn information upon arrest, there must be reasonable cause. And with warrants, the policeman must swear to a definite charge and have real evidence. Then he must be ready to take his man at once before a judge. No holding of men for days before formal charges.

"It is all very simple, and though undoubtedly not perfect, is immensely superior to American methods. "In 1930 the total offences in Canada in towns of 4000 or over, were 352,783. There were 303,165 arrests and 204,042 convictions. There were 12,298 autos stolen and 96 per cent. recovered; 64 per cent. of the stolen goods was recovered. And in all, Canada in 1930 there were only 17 murders."

THOU SHALT NOT

The minute Adam was presented with Eve his liberty was reduced by fifty per cent. He was no longer able to do as he liked which was good for his soul, though possibly bad for his temper. His progress began the minute his liberty was intruded upon.

Thus from the beginning, progress and happiness have been accompanied by restriction of so-called Liberty.

The ancient Israelite saw the beginning of happiness the minute Moses handed out a few thou-shalt-nots. Magna Charta was an emphatic thou-shalt-not, imposed on King John, and now regarded as the foundation of British liberty. When Charles 1st imposed taxes without asking permission, he was subjected to a thou-shalt-not which took off his head. Employers once demanded complete liberty to work their employees night and day, until the people rose with a thou-shalt-not. Ship-owners loaded their ships excessively to the danger of their crews until "thou-shalt-not" was imposed upon them.

The great depression was caused because we have not yet discovered that it is necessary to impose a few thou-shalt-nots on the financial powers that be. So it is their turn to discover that they cannot do as they like.

So we can measure the progress of civilization by the thou-shalt-nots we have invented, and will have arrived at peace when these have become no longer necessary, but a great "Thou Shalt" has taken its place. This will be a grand "Thou shalt do to thy neighbor as ye would that he should do unto you."—Morning Albertan.

Although there is good moisture prospect for this year, and the price of wheat does appear to be looking up, it is a good plan to use caution in the amount of land seeded. Only the best should be used.

U S FARM PRICES START SOARING

Farm prices in the United States are going up in the fastest rise since the spring of 1919.

A steady climb has been under way
since April 15, and up to yesterday
the bureau of agricultural economics reported it still under way. The last upswing to compare was in April, 1919, after the government relaxed
war-time milling regulations.

Leading the way in the trek toward levels of prosperous days have been the farmers' faithful draft animals, horses and mules. From April 15 to mid-May, the bureau said, the average farm price for horses went from $67 to $71; while mules mounted $75 to $77.

Wool, however, scored the sharpest rise of any commodity, increasing 75 per cent. from April 15's average farm price of 10.1 cents a pound to 17.7 cents a month later.

The increase in farm purchasing power was exactly equal to the price increase. The price level of goods farmers buy made no change. On May 15 as well as on April 15, the prices for consumption goods were equal to the pre-war level of 1909-1914.

Farm prices, despite the increase,
are still below the pre-war level. Using 100 to represent pre-war prices,
the May 15 index figures for the same group of commodities was 62, a gain of nine points since April 15
and a gain of 12 points since March 15.

SHOOT MAN WHO STEALS A COW

Rhea G. Clyman, who for four years has acted as special correspondent in Russia of the Toronto Evening Telegram, contributes some startling information regarding conditions in the country which some Canadians point to as a model which should be adopted in Canada. Retelling a conversation with a Russian peasant the writer gives the following: "Do you shoot people in Canada for stealing a cow or a sack of grain?" asked the peasant. I answered that we had the death penalty for only one thing, wilful murder. "Strange, isn't it," he asked earnestly, "that here in Russia
the life of a cow is more valuable than a human. My brother-in-law was shot by the O-Gay-Pay Oo because he stole a cow and slaughtered it for meat. It was his own cow, the collective farm took, and he stole it back, and now there are four children left orphans all because of a cow. It's the new law. The Communist want to protect state property, but does it help to shoot a man because he takes his own cow? There are so many shootings here now, I can tell you of this one because it happened in my own family." There is good ground for belief that money is being sent to this country by Russian organizations to enable the carrying on of a campaign against the laws of Canada,
and in the hope that the Russian system of government with Russian laws shall eventually be established here.
—Brampton Conservator.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS THROUGH CANADA

In the May review from the Canadian Pacific Railway, there is recorded an encouraging change in business tone in Canada. The index for Canadian farm products moved up to 44
in February and to 44.7 in March. It is expected the wholesale prices would advance. The index of production has advanced steadily in almost all lines. The index for the production of foodstuffs based on ten factors was 74.1 in March compared with 63 in February. Flour and oatmeal shipments showed gains after seasonal adjustment, while rolled oats were produced in lesser volume. The manufacture of sugar in the four-week period ended March 25 was 55, 432,000 lbs. compared with 20,347,000 in the preceding period. Hog and sheep slaughterings showed gains,
while the gain in cattle slaughterings
was less than normal for the season.
Exports of cheese and canned salmon
were greater in March than in February.

LOW ELECTRICITY COST IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Rural Manitoba, Rural
Ontario Have Great Electrical Service

The total output of all central electric stations in Canada during 1931
amounted to 16,330,867,000 kilowatt
hours which was a decrease of 1,762, 935,000 kilowatt hours, or 9.7 per cent, from the previous year's output.
When the decrease in energy produced for export is deducted the output available for use in Canada was less than for 1930 by 1,374,970 kilowatt hours, or 8.1 per cent. This reduction of course, was due to the business depression and would have been worse
but for the increase in lighting customers.

Both the number and average consumption of domestic customers have also increased steadily and the consumption averaged 1,170 kilowatt hours per customer in 1931. Flat rates as low as $2.00 per kilowatt per month for water heaters in Winnipeg were a large factor in the high average of 3,610 kilowatt hours per annum per domestic customer in Manitoba. In the majority of municipalities in Ontario all electricity for domestic use is measured through one meter on block meter rates and the net rate for the third block is as low as .9 cent in a large number of municipalities and even lower in a few.
These low rates affected the average consumption for Ontario which was 1,497 kilowatt hours.

The averages for the other provinces in kilowatt hours were: British Columbia, 880; Saskatchewan, 806; Quebec 595; Alberta, 531; New Brunswick, 520; Nova Scotia, 423; and Prince Edward Island, 337. The average revenue per kilowatt hour for domestic service for all Canada was 2.25 cents as compared with 5.78 cents in the United States. Manitoba had the lowest average of 1.04 cents
and for the other provinces the averages were: Ontario, 1.78 cents;
British Columbia, 3.01 cents; Quebec
3.62 cents; Saskatchewan 5.09 cents;
Alberta 5.70 cents; New Brunswick
5.10 cents; Nova Scotia 6.02 cents;
and Prince Edward Island 8.98 cents.

One on the Banker

London Answers got off this one:
"There are a hundred ways of making money," said the lawyer; "but only one honest way."

The banker looked puzzled. "What is it?" he asked.

"Aha!" laughed the lawyer, "I knew you wouldn't know."

A Canadian poet says that any teacher who teaches pupils to parse
and analyze poetry should be hanged, drawn and quartered. Poetry as a rule may stand for parsing, but won't bear analysis.

The way to disarm, as Roosevelt says, is to disarm, but you have also to persuade the other fellows that you have done so and then see to it that they do the same.

The best field of operation for government ownership and control is in the manufacture and sale of arms. It would go a long way toward the prevention of war and other crimes if the profits from such industry were removed from private or corporate interests.

WHAT IT COSTS FOR FINAL EXAMS

The cost of finding out whether students are learning anything at school is heavy. In departmental exams, the receipts from fees in 1932
totalled $81,947.34 and the actual expenditure was $84,968.53. With the further reduction announced last week, it will be still more difficult to make ends meet.

One half the total cost of exams
goes to reading of the answer papers.
This takes the time of 260 persons working for two weeks. There are in addition 60 clerks engaged for periods from three weeks to three months in tabulating records, preparing reports for candidates and school boards and entering permanent records. Eighteen persons are busy for a month in parceling the examination
papers and supplies.

In 1932, 20,202 candidates wrote 90,320 papers, writing at 1,064 centres. It took two million sheets of exam papers to find out what the youth of Alberta knew. Alack a day.

7 CAN PREMIERS WERE KNIGHTED

Eleven men have been Prime Ministers of Canada. Of these seven have been knighted and four have been remained just plain "Mister". Of the seven knights, six were Conservatives and one a Liberal. Of the four unknighthed ones two have been Liberals and two Conservatives.

The seven knights include Sir John
A. Macdonald, Sir John Abbott, Sir
John Thompson, Sir Mackenzie Bow-
ell, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Wilfred Laurier and Sir Robert Borden. The unknighthed four include, Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mckenzie
King, and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett.

With knighthoods restored it will become more or less a matter of course for Prime Ministers to be honored. Both Mr. Meighen and Mr.
King will be pardoned a twinge of regret that they held the high office
when titles for Canadians were taboo.

A dance in aid of the Boy Scouts
will be given in Okotoks this week.

U. F. W. A. Conference

Many Delegates and Visitors Attend Sessions Held on June 1

The U.F.W.A. conference for this district is now filed away as history, but the event will long live in the memory of the delegates and visitors as one of enjoyable business and social features. Held in the Queenstown hall, on Thursday, June 1st, the conference was well attended at morning, afternoon, and evening sessions.

The morning session was opened by the district director, Mrs. R. R. McBride of Arrowwood and the morning's work consisted mainly of reports from the Junior U.F.W.A. group. Reports were heard from Queenstown, a new organization; Arrowwood High School and Johnny Canucks (Mayview).

During the report of the Queenstown Juniors it was learned that the group will send five delegates to the convention at Edmonton. Senior reports were heard from East Milo, Arrowwood and Kirkdale. Other business of the morning included the reading and caring of two selections.

The afternoon session opened with community singing. Mrs. McLeod of High River, District Director of the Macleod division, gave an interesting talk on Political Legislation. Other speakers of the afternoon included Mrs. Price, president of the U.F.W.A. for Alberta and Mr. McLeod, a member of the Board of Directors of the U.F.A. The latter speaker gave an enlightening talk on the Co-Operative Movement. During this session the Berrywater seniors and East Milo Juniors gave their reports. Two resolutions were noted and carried.

In the evening Mrs. R. Price spoke to the junior groups, after which a dance followed sponsored by the Queenstown juniors.

During the day many instrumental and vocal selections were rendered. Chief of these included a piano solo by Miss L. Richardson and songs and violin solos by members of the Queenstown local.

KEYSTONE CLASS MEETS

Members of the Keystone class of the Church of Christ met at the home of Mrs. C. Zahnd on Thursday of last week for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Wm. Walker presided and a goodly number of members were present. The roll call was responded to by "Your favorite flower and why." Some very interesting answers were given, and roses and sweet peas were the favorites of the majority. Mrs. Boose read some interesting sketches of happenings in the Bible land and conducted a bible contest. Another contest was conducted by Mrs. Shimp. Mrs. Gonyea and Mrs. Spaeth were the winners.

Mrs. Zahnd provided a delicious banquet, which was unexpected by the guests, in honor of her new home. Needless to say everyone did ample justice to the many good things prepared. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Zahnd for her kind hospitality.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Boose on June 29. All members are requested to be present.
